

Kids Get "PHIT" And Obesity Takes A Hit

Contributed by GKA News Editor
Friday, 11 May 2007

Early results of a program aimed at combating childhood obesity show promise and the program is being well received by the children and their families. Those are among the conclusions of research from Children's Mercy Hospitals and Clinics, where PHIT Kids offers a comprehensive clinical and educational program for overweight children and their families. [click link for full article]

Early results of a program aimed at combating childhood obesity show promise and the program is being well received by the children and their families. Those are among the conclusions of research from Children's Mercy Hospitals and Clinics, where PHIT Kids offers a comprehensive clinical and educational program for overweight children and their families. [click link for full article]

Read more: <http://www.medicalnewstoday.com/medicalnews.php?newsid=70571&nfid=crss>.